

CALL FOR PAPERS

KRITIKE is interested in publishing articles across the whole range of philosophical topics, but with special emphasis on Continental Philosophy, Analytic Philosophy, and East-West Comparative Philosophy. Publishing in the journal is not limited to academic philosophers and philosophy majors; we do encourage contributions from disciplines other than philosophy (political science, literature, cultural studies, sociology, communication, history, linguistics, law, economics, natural science, etc.) provided that the paper has a strong philosophical bent.

KRITIKE is also accepting book reviews of philosophical titles published within the last years (2000 words maximum).

- Submissions may be in either English or Filipino with good punctuation, grammar, and spelling. Submissions under 7000 words are favored.
- KRITIKE is a refereed journal, so make sure that your text is prepared for blind review, meaning your name and institutional affiliation should not appear in the body of your paper. Please include a short abstract (200 words or less) of your paper and ten (10) possible keywords.
- We recommend that, at the first instance, you use our prescribed citation style: http://www.kritike.org/journal/announcements/kritike_style_guide.pdf. You may also use the Chicago style which resembles our own.
- Submit your text in 2.0 line spacing with Times New Roman 12 pts font size. Quotations exceeding four lines should be indented and single-spaced.
- Save your paper as either a Microsoft Word document (DOC) or a Rich Text Format file (RTF).
- To submit your paper, visit our For Contributors page and use the on-site submission tool: http://www.kritike.org/for_contributors.html. Do not forget to fill in all mandatory fields.
- Please do not forget to include your complete name and institutional affiliation (indicate specific department).
- Also attach a summary of your curriculum vitae.
- If the submission tool does not work for you, you can alternatively submit your paper as an email attachment, with all the relevant information, to the following email address: editors@kritike.org
- We accept submissions all year round. The author will be notified in due course via email whether his/her contribution is accepted for publication, recommended for revision and resubmission, or rejected. Please note, however, that due to the number of submissions we receive, all papers are considered for both the June and December issues. If we could not include an “accepted” paper in a particular issue, it is then carried over the next issue; the author will be informed accordingly.
